

Anomie

Anomie Publishing Privacy Policy

ANOMIE PUBLISHING takes your privacy very seriously. This privacy policy describes how we will use and why we obtain, store and process data which can identify you. We may update this policy from time to time and will indicate on anomie-publishing.com and other websites operated by Anomie (collectively, “Anomie Websites”) when changes have been made.

By using this website you are agreeing to be bound by this policy.

THE INFORMATION WE COLLECT

Information is collected from you when you contact us. The information we collect is your email address together with any other details you may provide.

There is a link to this policy from our website.

WHY WE COLLECT IT

We collect information about you so that we and our service providers can provide you with the services and products identified on our websites. Depending upon your requirements we may arrange for you to be sent information about related products and services from us. The lawful bases for our processing of your data are the legitimate interests of our business, and where appropriate, to fulfil contractual requirements.

WHO WE DISCLOSE IT TO

We will only pass on information about you as an individual (as opposed to aggregate information) to third parties as is necessary to facilitate the performance of services requested by you or with your prior consent.

In certain circumstances we may need to disclose information about you if required to do so by law or by any Governmental body.

SECURITY

Keeping information about you secure is very important to us and certain sections of the Anomie Websites may encrypt data using secure server software (SSL) or a comparable standard. However, no data transmission over the Internet can be guaranteed to be totally secure. As a result, whilst we strive to protect your personal information, we cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information which you send to us, and you do so at your own risk.

ACCESSING AND UPDATING YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

We will always let you have a copy of personal information we have about you, should you request it, and you may correct it if you wish. To access the data we hold on you simply email us at info@anomie-publishing.com and we will reply as soon as possible.

We will only retain your data for the amount of time necessary to complete any agreed transactions, including details of new products and projects, or as long as required for statutory accounts purposes.

COOKIES POLICY

This website does not use cookies.

GOOGLE ANALYTICS

We use this to understand how the site is being used in order to improve the user experience. User data is all anonymous.

THIRD PARTY LINKS

We cannot be responsible for the privacy policies and practices of other sites even if you access them using links from our website and we recommend that you check the policy of each site you visit and contact its owner or operator if you have any concerns or questions.

TRANSFERRING YOUR INFORMATION OUTSIDE OF EUROPE

As part of the services we offer to you through this website, the information you provide may be transferred to countries outside the EU. By way of example, this may happen if any of our services or any of our service providers (such as email servers) are from time to time located in a country outside of the EU. In all such instances we will take steps with the aim of ensuring your privacy rights continue to be protected as outlined in this privacy policy.

QUESTIONS?

If you have any questions or complaints relating to this Privacy Policy or how we use the personal information we have about you, please contact info@anomie.com. We will endeavour to respond to you promptly.